Don Beezley announces he will sign Colorado Union of Taxpayers pledge

Broomfield, CO, February 25, 2010—Don Beezley (R-Broomfield) announced today that he will sign the Colorado Union of Taxpayers' candidate pledge at a campaign launch event on March 7. The pledge is a commitment to fiscal responsibility including no new taxes, respecting the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights and a number of other fiscal and taxpayer protections.

“Governor Ritter and the Democrats just did the equivalent of a midnight signing of nine new tax increases into law,” said Don Beezley, “only announcing it to the media afterwards. If they are ashamed, they should be, because they did the wrong thing.”

The Beezley campaign noted that Colorado, like the rest of the country, is in a recession. Tax increases are harmful in the best of times; they are job suicide right now. The Democrats are hoping Colorado's taxpayers and businesses aren't looking. They are. And the case for real change in November is getting clearer each and every day.

Beezley continued, “You don't kick people when they're down. People need the money they earn in their pocket, and they need job opportunities. These increases take away both. I will sign the CUT pledge because the responsibility will be on me as a legislator to make the right spending decisions, and not take it out on hardworking taxpayers.”

About Don Beezley

Don Beezley, a Colorado native, is a candidate for State Representative in Colorado House District 33. Don Beezley is a business owner, husband and father of two young boys. Don is alarmed by the government-first mentality in Denver, the fiscal mismanagement that puts our state at peril, and the culture of reckless, disrespectful overreach that pervades all levels of government. He wants to bring respectful, fiscally responsible management to Colorado's House.
